

GERMANS SPENT HUGE SUMS IN U. S. TO INFLUENCE CONGRESS AGAINST WAR, BERNSTORFF'S MESSAGE SHOWS

Message Sent to Berlin Foreign Office on January 22, 1917, Requesting Authority to Pay Out $50,000 Through an Unnamed Organization, Which, He Infers, Might Prevent Actual Conflict With Teutons, Made Public by Secretary Lansing Today.

URGES GERMANY TO GAIN SUPPORT OF IRISH

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Secretary Lansing today made public, as an astounding addition to the series of disclosures covering German intrigues in America and elsewhere, a message sent by Count von Bernstorff in January of this year to the Berlin foreign office requesting authority to pay out $50,000 to influence Congress through an unnamed organization, apparently known to the Berlin authorities.

Count von Bernstorff indicated in his message that money had been paid this organization on former occasions to perform the same work.

The text of the message was given but without comment in the same manner as were the messages of Count Luxburg, German minister to Argentina, which have disrupted relations between Argentina and Germany, and the letter of German Minister von Bockhardt in Mexico City, recently made public.

The message dated January 22, 1917, follows:

I request authority to pay out up to $50,000 in order as on former occasions to influence Congress through the organizations you know of which can perhaps prevent war.

I am beginning in the meantime to act accordingly.

In the above circumstances a public official German declaration in favor of Ireland is desirable in order to gain the support of Irish influence here.

Whether the State Department is in possession of other evidence indicating the ambassador's activities has not been revealed, but the disclosure already made has fixed the belief that agents of the government have collected and compiled the entire story of German's duplicity and intrigue.

The reference to avoiding war is taken as an indication that Ambassador Bernstorff had prior knowledge of his government's intention to proclaim merciless submarine warfare and that he was equally confident that the United States government could not be easily placated by mere promises.

The German announcement of this intention to expand the submarine activities was not made public till January 31, when the world was startled, not only by the determination to remove all restrictions, but by the statement that it would become effective on the following day. Three days later the United States government had expressed its disapproval by severing relations.

That the German ambassador knew of his government's intentions was assumed by some officials, although at the same time, he denied prior knowledge and those in close touch with the embassy were given to understand that he did not approve the course and worked to secure modification. It has not been assumed that the ambassador actually tried to bribe or personally influence any member of Congress, and doubts that such was his purpose was supported to some extent by the comparatively small amount of money he paid. Fifty thousand dollars, it was pointed out, would go only a short way. Judiciously expended, however, it might do much in compensating paid agents, such as are now known to have belonged to the elaborate machine Bernstorff had so carefully built up for the production of propaganda.

Information in the possession of the government but not yet revealed is direct connection of the German intrigue in America with the Irish question than that indicated in von Bernstorff's message. The records at the department of justice are said to contain the names of men implicated in that phase of dramatic intrigue well known in America.

The name of the organization through which the German government sought to influence Congress, the previous instances, and the individuals carrying on the propaganda, although not disclosed, are the subjects of well-defined suspicion at the state department.

German Lines Penetrated For More Than a Mile East of Ypres.

COUNTER ATTACKS FUTILE

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Field Marshal Haig in later reports regarding the British offensive on the Belgian front, to the east of Ypres yesterday, when the British troops pushed through the German line for a distance of more than a mile, says that the completeness of the British success is confirmed by detailed accounts of the battle.

The British war office, after the receipt of Field Marshal Haig's report, today issued this bulletin:

"More detailed accounts of yesterday's battle confirm the completeness of our success. During the evening local attacks delivered by us in the neighborhood of Tower hamlets and northeast of Langemark cleared up a number of strong points and completed the capture of our objectives in these localities.

"It is now established that in the many counter attacks delivered with considerable forces by the enemy in the evening his casualties were unusually great.

"Our own losses in the battle are light.

"The clear light of the latter part of the day enabled our troops to obtain warning of impending attacks and in every case the advancing lines of German infantry were destroyed by the concentrated fire from our rifles and machine guns and artillery."

BRITISH FRONT IN FRANCE AND BELGIUM. Sept. 21.—During the night the British forces, with comparatively little opposition, consolidated and considerably improved the new lines which they had won in their offensive against the Germans to the east of Ypres.

Today from the newly acquired stronghold known as "Anzac," southwest of Zonnebeke, located the Australian banner, a symbol of the greatest victory which has marked British operations in the west theatre in the past year, not excluding that at Messines.

Southwest of Gluecel, the Germans still are holding a position which the British desired and today at 9:30 o'clock Field Marshal Haig began a local attack there.

REFUSES TO MOVE

Sage Arrested for Forcible Retention.

When her husband was arrested last night by Constable S. A. Fasson on a charge of forcible retention, having moved into a house which was not his own and refused to vacate it, Mrs. Francis Sage declared she would take her life, seized a razor, entered her room, and slammed the door. Latest reports this morning were that she had not yet set her throat. Constable Fasson did not take Mrs. Sage's threat of suicide seriously at all, and devoted his time exclusively to the removal of Sage to the lockup.

The house which the Sages took possession of is on Prospect street. Suit to force them to move was brought by Attorney S. R. Goldsmith. There has been no hearing in the case, and Sage is still in the lockup, but Mrs. Sage is moving today.

$32,477 CONTRIBUTED TO FILL UP SOLDIERS' PIPES

Exactly $32,477.28 has been contributed to fill up the pipes of the American troops in France, according to the fifth weekly report of the "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund," just issued. Among the contributions listed is $29.50 from The Courier, which is handling the Connellsville end of the campaign.

There are now 148 newspapers and 97 magazines participating in the work of raising money for tobacco for the American soldiers "over there." Between them, they have collected $20,100.70, the remaining $2-

376.58 having been received at the New York headquarters.

Contributions have been coming in steadily in Connellsville, but they must continue if the American soldier boy is to have his soothing smoke at the close of a hard day's work in the training camp just behind the French front. Later, he is going to be in the trenches and he will need a cigarette or a full pipe just before he goes "over the top" to give the Boches "that for," as the Englishman says. He will need his smoke even more than now. He will need it to brace him for that thrilling experience of leaving the shelter of the trench behind and going out over No Man's Land to assault the strongholds of the Hun.

It is up to the stay-at-homes to furnish him every comfort possible. And tobacco is not merely a comfort. With most of the troops it is an actual necessity.

Just 25 cents of your money will send 45 cents' worth of tobacco to some American boy in France. Of course, you can give more than 25 cents and furnish the troops with more of "the weed." Contribute today.

Courier Readers Are Asked to Help Compile a Roll of Honor.

The Courier is compiling a list of men from Connellsville and vicinity now in Uncle Sam's service. Already it has reached tremendous proportions, but there are many not included in it. Parents or other relatives of enlisted men are requested to fill out a coupon which appears on another page of this issue and thus assist us in making this ROLL OF HONOR as complete as possible.

The ROLL OF HONOR will be printed when The Courier has reason to believe it is reasonably comprehensive. With the cooperation of soldiers' relatives this paper will be able to present a complete directory of color region boys fighting in the great war for democracy and peace.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS UNDER FIRE OF GERMAN AIRPLANES

ONLY 176 OF NEW ARMY MEN WILL BE SENT AWAY SUNDAY

Railroad Facilities Forbid Taking of More Than Actual Quotas.

ONE ON LIST IS INJURED

Vanderburgh Draftee Appears at No. 3 Headquarters Encased in Plaster Cast as Result of Breaking Three Ribs; Special Leaves at 5:20 P. M.

Only the quotas of Districts No. 2 and 5 will leave Sunday night for the training camp at Petersburg, Va. The boards had expected to send several more than the number called for but orders received yesterday instructed them to cut down, as the railroads cannot handle extra ones. No. 2 will send 100 men and No. 5, 75.

The men will spend Sunday at the armory, No. 2 draftees reporting tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and No. 5 Sunday morning at 7:30. Members of the exemption board will have charge of the men until they are embarked.

No leader or lieutenants have been appointed in No. 2, but I. J. Cossel of Adelaide has been named by the No. 5 board to be in charge of his district's men. His lieutenants will be named Sunday.

The draftees will be fed at the armory if plans do not miscarry. Those of District No. 2, called for Saturday, may spend the night at the armory if they wish to do so.

The special train will arrive here over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad at 5 o'clock P. M. Sunday, leaving about 5:20. A box lunch will be served to the 400 men already on the train as the dining car could not accommodate all. A special train leaving M. Pleasant at 4:30 o'clock will arrive here about the same time.

No arrangements have been made by the local board officials of either district here to have the drafted men attend the celebration at Uniontown tonight.

Passalacqua Gutapace, of Vanderburgh, appeared at the office of No. 5 board this morning, and told of suffering several broken ribs in an accident this week. His body was encased in a plaster cast. He was told by the board to appear at the armory Sunday morning for roll call.

A substitute will be sent in his place. No. 5 board also received a letter today from the American-Hawaiian Steamship company stating that two letters addressed to William Premus, of this place, an alleged slacker, who is a sailor on the steamer Arizona, had been received at the main offices. The ship is now in South America, according to the letter, and the mail will be delivered to Premus on his arrival home. Premus' registration card was forwarded here by government officials after it was discovered that he had not registered on June 5.

SUPPLY TRAIN ATTACKED

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Sept. 21.—By day and by night, the men of the American regiment of engineers, which has taken over an important line of French strategic railways, are hauling tons upon tons of ammunition and other supplies to the French army unit operating against the Germans.

The American regiment has been turned over as a unit to the French and is getting all its supplies except clothing from the French government. The officers and men entered upon the work with the greatest enthusiasm and they already have been under German bombs and machine gun fire from airplanes.

Within the last few nights, a heavy train of supplies hurrying toward the front was attacked by several enemy planes. None of the bombs came dangerously close, but every time the firebox of the engine was opened for stoking, the planes swooped down on the train and spattered it with steel jacketed bullets. The fire got so hot that eventually the train was stopped, the crew taking refuge beneath the engine.

The American regiment of engineers mentioned in the above dispatch, is believed to be the Fifteenth Regiment, formerly the Fifth, of Pittsburgh, in which are a number of local boys, among them Carl Russell, Arch McCormick, Herbert Shunk, Sam Barry, Jr., Julius Crouse, Ernest VanDusen of Connellsville, and immediate vicinity; Clarence Strawn of Dawson, and Alva Byers of Dunbar township.

VETERANS' REUNION

"Thin Blue Line" Parades at County Seat Thursday.

The "thin blue line" passed gaily down Main street, Uniontown, yesterday in step to martial music imbued with the same spirit which in 1861 led them forth to battle in defense of the Union. The veterans of the Civil war from Fayette county had gathered at the county seat in their annual reunion, and there was a short parade, which the old soldiers, though it sapped the strength of some of them, were determined to go through with.

The Fayette County Veterans' association, which, when organized, included 1,000 Fayette county sons who offered their lives in the war of the Rebellion, now has but 200 enrolled. The others have heard the last sound of taps. The majority of the 300 were in Uniontown yesterday and lived over their fighting days in the two rampfires which were held.

At the business meeting in the morning, all the old officers were re-elected. W. T. Kennedy of Uniontown was named president. Lyman S. Strickler of Connellsville was made bugler. F. M. Cunningham of Obiopolis was chosen chaplain. Comrade Cunningham was also placed on the resolution committee. Captain Lloyd Johnson of Connellsville was made a member of the reception committee.

The memorial committee includes the names of Rev. W. H. McKivven, James Mason and G. W. Campbell, while J. J. Barnhart will serve on the nominating committee.

Dinner was served the veterans by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G. A. R.

COUNCIL VACATES ALLEY FOR P. R. R. FREIGHT SIDINGS

Railroad Company to Pave Mountain Alley and Pay All Damages to Properties.

PROPERTY OWNERS KICK

Dr. J. D. Jackson Appears Before Council on Behalf of Residents in That Section Claiming There is No Reason Giving Railroad So Much

The city has vacated the portion of what is known as Grape alley desired by the Pennsylvania railroad for trackage. The ordinance vacating the alley from the west side of Mountain alley to the east side of an unnamed alley, 150 feet west of Mountain alley, was passed by city council last night over the protests of property owners of that district. The railroad, in return for the privilege, is to pave Mountain alley within three months and indemnify the city from all damages which may be secured by property owners because of the closing of the alley. In addition, the railroad is intimated, will shortly make expensive improvements to the city's Third ward sewerage system.

Dr. J. D. Jackson, whose name headed the lists of those petitioning against the vacating of the alley, appeared personally before council to protest. The Pennsylvania railroad had never done anything particularly for the city, he said, and there was no reason why they should be favored that much. The value of the property in that district would be lowered, and the railroad had made no proposition toward settling with the owners. Only by recourse to expensive law suits could the land owners secure their rights.

The vote for the ordinance was unanimous. Councilman John Duggan said before answering to his name, that it was all right for "these people" to protest. "It will put them on record," he said, "and that's what they want. The improvements there are necessary to the railroad, and for the progress of the city and the help of the railroad which is operating in the city, I vote yes."

Councilman M. B. Pryce remarked that he had been opposed to the ordinance up to a few days ago, and it believed to be the Fifteenth Regiment, formerly the Fifth, of Pittsburgh, in which are a number of local boys, among them Carl Russell, Arch McCormick, Herbert Shunk, Sam Barry, Jr., Julius Crouse, Ernest VanDusen of Connellsville, and immediate vicinity; Clarence Strawn of Dawson, and Alva Byers of Dunbar township.

Councilman L. L. West and Mayor R. Marietta voted yes without comment. Councilman J. H. Guyan was absent.

The petition against the closing of the alley, filed with council, reads:

"We, the undersigned, property owners and tenants of Grape alley, do hereby enter protest against the closing of Grape alley and will claim damages if closed. First, in case of fire, it will be impossible to get fire fighting apparatus in said Grape alley. Second, will damage as to renting our property." It is signed by the following: J. D. Jackson, Mrs. Josephine Reid, Mary B. Snyder, Central Lumber company, by R. L. Hannan, manager; E. H. Marshall, proprietor of the Young Chemical company; L. Spolsky, Fred Crump, Hattie Campbell, Frank Residue, Elizabeth Ross, Mrs. Naomi Schibley, W. H. Friend, Alec Chinn, William Chelton, O. H. Steer, G. W. Brickman, W. R. Scott, J. M. Sem-bower, John Riley, W. H. Shaw, W. P. Clark, Joseph A. Mason, Charles F. Bishop, Manuel Mervis, Worth Kilpatrick, H. F. Bailey, Lorman S. Pape, John Kiferie and Grant Dull.

The purchasing agent was directed to 1,000 feet of standard fire hose, 500 feet to be delivered immediately, and 500 feet on January 30.

A dispute concerning the agreement with William Artis, who will be paid $300 for the right of way given the city through his property on Tenth street, was settled. Artis claims that the agreement was that the city should pay for the paving in front of the property which they have taken over from him. The councilmen decided that they would allow him this exonerated without fighting things over with him again, but would take the cost of the other paving, about his property on Apple street, out of the $300, paying him the balance. Artis owes the city over $100 for this paving, and a lien has been filed against him. He will get the $300 for the Tenth street ground turned over to the city, less the paving costs due the city for improvements on the Apple street side of his property.

VAN SWEARINGEN'S MAJORITY 58 MORE THAN CRAY'S VOTE

Judge Work Polls 2,688 More Than Dumbauld; Glover and Rankin Likely to Win.

Complete unofficial returns from the 106 precincts of Fayette county, show the vote of Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen, who was elected for a second term at Wednesday's primaries, to be 12,284, and that of his opponent, James R. Cray, to be 6,113. Judge Van Swearingen's majority is 6,171, or 58 more than Mr. Cray's total vote. With returns from 105 of the 106 districts of the county, Judge J. C. Work received 10,530 votes and H. S. Dumbauld 7,842 votes. Judge Work's majority over Mr. Dumbauld in the 105 districts is 2,688, and he has been elected.

Indications are that Andrew L. Glover and William H. Rankin are the Republican nominees for director of the poor. David M. Parkhill of Connelville is out of the running. With returns from 89 precincts in, Glover and Rankin have received 2,788 and 2,711 votes, respectively, while none of their opponents have reached 2,000.

The nomination of George T. Hackney on the Republican ticket as a candidate for jury commissioner to succeed himself is also indicated. Robert P. Wallis is giving him a close race, with Ray F. Fletcher of Leisenring third in the race. In 89 districts, Hackney received 1,778, Wallis, 1,632, and Fletcher, 1,176.

FELICITATES WINNER

C. C. Mitchell, Majority Candidate, Thanks Supporters.

That the majority campaign has left behind it no feelings of ill will or resentment among the candidates is shown by the attitude of the "losers." J. B. No less hearty is the expression of Charles C. Mitchell who said this morning: "I wish to express my sincerest appreciation for the support given me in the campaign and to thank every person who did or said anything in my behalf. The election is over now, and I have forgotten that it happened. I have no grudge to nurse, but like other citizens have duties to keep me busy. I congratulate my successful opponent and wish to assure him that he will have my support in helping to make Connelville a better, cleaner and bigger city."

COMPANY D WILL BE RECRUITED TO 250; WANT MEN FROM HOME

Captain Morton Says Strength of Command Is to Be Increased By 100.

Company D is to be recruited to 250 men, and it is desired that the 100 new men shall be from Fayette county. Orders have been received by Sergeant H. E. Fellows, in charge of the army recruiting depot in Uniontown, from Captain Robert S. Morton, to make efforts to fill the company up to the new maximum strength, with the men all recruited from the home county.

Captain Morton states that men not subject to draft and drafted men not yet ordered to report to local boards for examination are eligible. "It is thought here," Captain Morton writes from Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., where Company D is now in training with the rest of the Pennsylvania troops, "that many boys at home would like to join the local recruitment. This can be done by enlisting at the recruiting station at Uniontown, from which point successful applicants who so desire will be furnished transportation to Camp Hancock."

The increase to 250 men has been authorized by the commanding general of the 28th Division. Captain Morton has been awaiting for some time the orders to make his company of the new size. Before leaving Connelville, he said he would carry one or two extra men along, if he could get them, as they could take places in the company when it was increased to 250 men. Allied companies on the European battlefields are of this strength.

EDGAR HORNER HAS LOTS TO DO AT CAMP HANCOCK

Edgar Horner, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Horner of Connelville, is one of the busiest men at Camp Hancock. He is a sergeant in the Tenth Regiment Supply company, regimental bugler and solo cornetist in the regimental band. He has something to do every minute, he writes. When the Tenth boys detained at Camp Hancock two weeks ago the band boys worked from dawn until dark getting their camp in shape and they played a concert.

SMALL AUDIENCES ATTEND CANNING DEMONSTRATIONS

Only a Few Hear Miss Noble of State College on Second Appearance in Connelville.

On her second appearance at the Carnegie Free library yesterday afternoon, Miss Elsie Noble, who is giving a series of demonstrations and lectures on the cold pack method of canning fruit or vegetables, was greeted by about a dozen women and one man. Miss Noble represents the home economic and extension department of State college and came to Connelville under the auspices of the Woman's Culture club. Her demonstrations and lectures are well given and are very helpful to housewives.

On her appearance here earlier in the summer, Miss Noble lectured and demonstrated in the presence of a large audience. Yesterday she showed the best methods of preserving late fruits and vegetables which are now coming into the market. She demonstrated canning peaches and beans. The method for canning these is practically the same as carried out in canning all other vegetables or fruits. The most important feature is the freshness of the fruits or vegetables, which are prepared the same as if it were to be used on the table. It is then blanched, which does away with any unpleasant taste, also shrinks it, thus allowing more to be packed in the jar and also aids in preserving. The next process is the cold pack. The fruit or vegetable is then placed into a jar, and put in the cooker. The time for cooking varies. To each quart jar a teaspoonful of salt is added. Miss Noble also gave instructions in the canning of corn and drying vegetables or fruit. Last night she gave a similar lecture and demonstration in the presence of a small audience.

There was an exhibit of canned and preserved fruit and vegetables which the Woman's Suffrage association of Connelville had on display at the Dawson fair.

Suffragists to Meet

The Woman's Suffrage party will meet tomorrow afternoon at the federal building. All members are requested to bring their knitting. Those who are not knitting for the soldiers are expected to sew.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Florence Day of East Fayette street, underwent an operation this morning at the Cottage State hospital.

EAT WHAT YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT

People who consistently deny their appetite some particular dish appearing upon the table, because indulgence has always meant subsequent indigestion, will find this a strong statement in a fact, however, that most people can, without harm or discomfort, eat a hearty meal of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from the moment they are taken. Heavy dinners and late suppers can be enjoyed with impunity if, before retiring, one will take a spoonful of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills will take a place in the system, and will be found to be a most valuable food. Suits Neither Elaborate in Cut Nor Ornately Trimmed—But Very Distinguished

The "style" of the Suits for Autumn and Winter centers very largely in the coat, for the reason that the suit jackets vary in length from the knees to within an inch or two of the hem of the skirt.

The coats of the suits are designed to suit all figures and are frequently cut in uneven lengths, shorter in front than in the back, or longer in the back and shorter at the sides.

Fur, fur fabric, velvet, and plush trimmings are used freely and belts are quite proper still.

Suit jackets in Russian style, fastening at the side, sometimes slightly outlining the figure, are being designed more frequently.

New York sudsom is fully represented in this popular section and a stream of new models is continually passing through.

Representative Prices—$18.50, $20, $22.50, $25.00, $27.50, Others to $55.00.

The Waist Opening—Styles Paris Inspired

you should of course be present sometime during the day. Prominent in the exposition will be the waists in dark colors to match the suit.

Millinery Styles Are More Varied This Fall Than Ever Before

If one isn't "well hatted" one certainly cannot be well dressed and one cannot be well hatted in what may be called a one-style season—a season in other words when one style of hat is in unusual favor.

American milliners, long since recognized this and Paris is finding this point well taken, for each season millinery styles become more diversified—this season more so than ever.

The millinery section is kaleidoscopic in the variety of styles that pass through it every day, and is popular with so many smart people because it always shows the newest models from the best houses.

New hats, featured for tomorrow, at $5.00 to $10.00.

TO HELP YOUNG GIRLS

A Mother Wants Her Letter Published.

Eaton, Ill.—"I wish you would publish this letter for the benefit of young girls. My daughter suffered greatly from female trouble with cramps, and headache, and backache most of the time. She never felt like working and it seemed as though she was sick all the time. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped her in every way, in fact it has really cured her, for she no longer has periodic pains, and no more headaches or backache, and I want all young girls who suffer as she did to know about it."

—Mrs. ALMA MILLS, Eaton, Ill.

Another Girl's Experience.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was eleven years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache, and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be so long a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it, and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 15th St., Newcastle, Ind. Girls who are troubled as these young women were, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Rengo Belt Reducing Corsets

Present-time Economy. Stretched and broken corsets call for replacement—often a second or third in a single season—where stout figures give severe wear.

Not so with Rengo Belt corsets—they are the strongest and most substantially made garments ever designed, due to the exclusive Rengo Belt feature of tailoring over the abdomen and hips.

They will hold their perfect style lines until thoroughly worn out—most women discard their older Rengo Belt garments only when the styles change.

Thus in the purchase of Rengo Belt Corsets you may acquire all you have ever desired in style and comfort and at the same time practice "present-time economy." Boned with double watchspring steels.

EIGHT HOURS' HARD WORK EVERY DAY, SOLDIERS' PROGRAM

Guardsmen's Period of Intensive Training Contains Few Leisure Moments.

COURSE TO LAST 16 WEEKS

First Eight to Be Devoted to Fundamentals and Last Eight to Putting on Flashing Trenches; Recreation and Physical Training Important.

Sixteen weeks of intensive training began at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., Monday morning, a rigorous schedule having been outlined to prepare the soldiers for the hardships of European battlefields. The units which began the training included the Tenth regiment.

Approximately eight hours per day will be devoted to the hardest kind of work, with the exception of Wednesdays and Saturdays, which will be half-holidays. Sunday is a full holiday. The half-holidays will be devoted to extra work in catching up with the others on the part of those who do not become proficient quickly in the various forms of instruction.

Among the courses to be taken the first week are study of the articles of war, military discipline and courtesy, uniforms and equipment, personal hygiene and care of the feet. Second week, setting up exercises, orders for sentinels, use of clothing, obligations and rights of soldiers and inspection.

The next week will be devoted to running, guard of prisoners, and bayonet exercises. There will also be a course of lectures given on "What We Are at War." Later on, the courses of training will include bombing, drilling in trenches, digging of trenches at night, and trench raids. In short, the men will play at actual warfare. They will go through gas clouds wearing gas masks. They will throw smoke bombs and wear gas helmets and go through gas chambers.

The training course has physical development very prominent throughout. Captain J. S. Woods, Yale football star, has outlined a set of physical training lessons, which will be used. Playing of baseball and football in off hours will be encouraged.

The first eight weeks in camp will be devoted largely to fundamentals and the last eight weeks to putting on the finishing touches. Shuttle trains to and from the camp are to be run. Tracks for the service are now being laid.

The reports that some New York guard troops would be brought to Atlantic is not credited there. The board of commerce of the Georgia city has not received any request from the government for more land. Saturday, 100 acres were added to Camp Hancock, and some more land for the artillery range and remount land hospital, but not enough for another division. New York troops are having much trouble at Spartanburg, S. C., on account of the mud.

CAMP HANCOCK, Sept. 17.—After the usual inspection today, the Tenth declared a holiday until Monday morning. Each company as well as its quarters were inspected and everything found to be in tip top shape. The sanitary conditions were declared to be excellent and all the boys are in good health.

Monday started the period of intensive training, when the schedule calls for eight hours a day. After a few months of training, together with the training that they had before they were ordered South, it is expected that the Tenth will be the best trained regiment in the whole Twenty-Eighth division.

The Third Regiment from Philadelphia has arrived in camp, and the Conneltsville boys are greeting friends that they made while a detachment of the Third was doing guard duty in and about Conneltsville. Especially will Private Wells of the Third Sanitary Detachment be remembered by the Conneltsville people, he having made many friends while in town.

The volume of business transacted by the hospital canteen would make the majority of the Conneltsville merchants sit up and take notice. On one hot day they sold nearly 75 cases of pop and innumerable boxes of candy. It is one of the most popular places in camp and at any hour of the day you find a crowd of hungry and thirsty soldiers seeking relief from the heat and sand.

The members of the Augusta Automobile club have volunteered to donate their cars for the purpose of giving the soldiers of Camp Hancock a ride over the city. There are nearly enough cars in town, it is said, to take all the soldiers at least once a week to the various points of interest in and about the city. A movement is on foot to make this a weekly affair.

Handling the mails for the immense crowd of men now located at Camp Hancock has become quite a problem. The mail has to be sorted in Augusta, and re-assembled at camp. For this purpose there has been erected a temporary post office at the camp.

At 9:15 in the morning and again at 5:15 in the afternoon the mail is handed out to the various organizations and there is always a crowd on hand to receive what mail there may be from home.

Ed Sudzik has so far been the most popular man in the corps. He received as high as four letters in one mail. Everybody envies Ed when it comes to receiving mail, but when it comes to writing letters it's a different proposition.

Several of the boys went to one of the Augusta variety stores and bought trunks for their surplus clothes. When they were delivered in camp it seems that some mistake was made. The trunks that arrived evidently were intended for some nice little girl to use for her doll clothes. It has been suggested that the trunks will be large enough for their surplus clothes, since all the extra clothes in the camp would not clothe a small group of chorus girls.

Considerable hilarity was caused Friday morning when George McCormick asked Sergeant "Dut" McCormick to stand at attention all day. Friday was the anniversary of the birth of "The Star Spangled Banner" and evidently George had been misinformed concerning the method of celebration.

The food has so far been very good and there has been plenty of it, but the boys all miss those little extras that they were accustomed to. They are all one in asking that any little things that the people at home have no use for, be sent, and they promise that they will be well taken care of.

"A wounded man is more expensive to the government than a dead man," these are the words of Dewey Miller, and George McCormick says that he will make quick disposal of the man who threw a bucket of water on him while he was writing a letter to his "steady regular" last night.

"Dut" McCormick had a dream about sitting down in this country the other night. He awoke to find that someone had tied one of the largest rocks to his foot. He did settle down right there until released.

The future of the Sanitary Detachment lies entirely in the hands of Walter Rogers and Tweed Stafford. Rogers and Stafford will be the new cooks.

Kills Catarrh Germs

Hyomel the Most Wonderful Treatment for Catarrh Ever Discovered. Do not try to cure catarrh by taking drugs into the stomach. It cannot be cured in that manner. The only way which this too common disease can be cured is through a direct application that will kill the catarrh germs and prevent their growth.

Hyomel is the only known method of treatment that accomplishes this. It is the simplest, most pleasant, and the only natural remedy for catarrh that has ever been discovered. The complete Hyomel outfit costs but little, consisting of an inhaler, dropper and sufficient Hyomel to last several weeks. This should effect a cure in ordinary cases, but for chronic and deep-seated cases of catarrh, longer use may be necessary, and then extra bottles can be obtained for a few cents. It is not alone the best, it might be called the only method of treating catarrh, but it is also the most economical.

Remember that if Hyomel does not help you, Clark will refund your money. Adv.

SUCCESSFUL FALL OPENING AT THE KOBACKER STORE

Throughs Attend Initial Showing of Season's Newest Merchandise.

MANY BEAUTIFUL THINGS

Garments Combine Style and Utility, Being Designed For Wear as Well as Looks; Materials Soft and Clinging Colors Are Dark and Quick.

A magnificent display of merchandise, attractive decorations and a delightful musical program were features of the annual fall opening at Kobacker's store yesterday. The opening was a great success, the various departments being thronged with shoppers from Conneltsville and vicinity, all eager to view the display of fall and winter fashions.

A striking feature of the autumn fashions is their practicality. Virtually everything this season seems to have been designed with a view to service and utility. A majority of the garments have straight and graceful lines, while the colors are dark and quiet. Materials are soft and clinging. Velvet will be extensively used.
The exhibition of ladies' and misses' suits, coats and dresses in the ladies' ready-to-wear department on the second floor is the most extensive ever shown by the firm. Suits, some with large fur collars, others with collars of self material, fashioned of the newest fabrics, including silvertones, gabardines, wool velours, poplins, fine serges, burellas and broadcloths, in the newest shades, beet root, burgundy, tupe, navy, autumn brown, green and plum are shown in a bewildering array. Belts are introduced in a number, and tailored stitching, braids, buttons or velvet are used in trimming many of the models, while others are severely plain, depending on their excellent tailoring for smartness.

In coats there are wool velours, pom pom cloth, duvet de laine, sil-vertone bolivia, velvet, plush and broadcloth models. The same shades prevail in the coats as in the suits.
There is scarcely a popular style or color that you will not find in the collection. Many of the models have collars and cuffs of elegant fur. Some display large cape collars and deep suffs. Smart models with the high waisted effect, various pleated and puffed types, were shown.

Handsome street and afternoon dresses, in attractive tailored models, with the long straight lines and pleated effects, showing touches of embroidery and beading are displayed in all the new shades.

The showing of furs included taupe
fox, mole, beaver, squirrel and seal, fashioned into the very newest designs in muffs and scarfs.

The millinery parlor, on the second floor, is a great center of attraction.
There is seemingly limitless variety of beautiful creations in headwear, showing the new soft effects with the velvet trim, and many other new stylish models.

Never in the history of the store was the display of wearing apparel for small and larger children as large.
Special attention is given by the management to the children's department.
Handsome dresses, coats, plain or fur trimmed, in the newest fabrics and colors, are exhibited, while in head-wear there was an endless variety of styles to choose from.

There is a big showing of muslin underwear, undershirts and silk petticoats. The corset department displays the very newest models.

The carpet department shows that much attention has been given to the fall and winter stock of druggists, carpets, linoleum, curtains and other household furnishings.

The dry goods department on the first floor comes in for a great share of attention, with its attractive showing of the season's most favored silks, including crepe de chine, crepe meteor, charmeuse, fancy stripe and plaid silks in rich colorings. In woolen materials, poplins, gabardines, velvet, fancy checks, pom pom cloth, fine serges are extensively shown. The season's most popular trimmings were neatly displayed.

Displayed in show cases are new effects in neckwear, including the popular high stock collar, novelties in jewelry, purses and fancy bags, silk hosiery, toilet articles, gloves and other accessories to milady's wardrobe.

There is an unusual showing of correct fall footwear for men, women and children. All the popular styles in women's footwear from the dainty dress boot to the popular walking boot are shown.

The men's furnishing department made a neat showing. New effects in neckwear, men's shirts, hosiery and other accessories necessary to a man's wardrobe are displayed.

The entire store is handsomely decorated for the occasion, appointments in keeping with fall predominating.
The windows were noteworthy features of the opening, the elegant display of ladies coats, furs, gowns and millinery, together with the charming decorations attracted the attention of the passersby. Richly tinted autumn leaves and chrysanthemums are used in decorating. Music was rendered during the afternoon by Kiefer's orchestra.

The Nation's Fighting Men Are Mobilizing!

Great military cities are springing up all over the land;
and linking these training camps, aviation fields, coast defenses, naval stations and even most remote points where our forces are gathering, is the Universal Bell Telephone System—linking each with the other and all with the Departments at Washington.

Upon the declaration of war, the Bell System was placed unreservedly at the disposal of the Government, whose already enormous demands for telephone service are continually increasing. Likewise unprecedented are the service requirements of private business, which necessarily must be subordinated in times of emergency.

And, altogether, the patriotic American public can cooperate most effectively with the Government if they will contribute toward the continued maintenance of an effective telephone service by discouraging all extravagant and wasteful uses of it.

SCOTSDALE NAVY LEAGUE WORKERS DOING FINE WORK

Unit Only Organized Three Months Ago but Has Accomplished Much Good.

MAKE 120 KNITTED ARTICLES

Fifty-One Women Work Steadily and Their Completed Sets Have Already Been sent to Connelville for Consignment to League Headquarters.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Sept. 21.—As the days grow cooler, Scottdale women are realizing more and more the immediate need for the knitted articles which are being furnished to the soldiers and sailors, and those who belong to the Scottdale unit of the Charleston Comforts branch of the Navy League are working harder than ever to turn out the knitted sets. Though the unit was only organized three months ago, it has done really notable work.

June 18 last Mrs. J. Melvin Grey, chairman of the Charleston Comforts branch of the Navy League, appointed Mrs. Mary A. Loucks chairman of the Scottdale unit. In the following three months the ladies met every Friday afternoon to get supplies and instructions at Mrs. Loucks' home. The work accomplished justifies much pride. Fifty-one knitters have turned in 120 knitted articles. Some specialized on some particular article, while others made complete sets. Women who could knit helmets were urged to do so, as many of the knitters who were just learning hesitating in starting on helmets. The work turned in consisted of 22 helmets, 29 sweaters, 29 scarfs, and 41 pairs of wristlets. There were sent in three consignments to the branch headquarters in Connelville.

These making complete sets follow: Mrs. Barclay, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. J. E. R. Miller, Mrs. Max Miller, Mrs. Rosesteel, and Miss Irene Loucks. The following turned in knitted articles: Mrs. Altman, Mrs. William Anderson, Mrs. Bosworth, Mrs. James Campbell, Ethel Collins, Mrs. Ferguson, Miss Ruth Frey, Miss Margaret Fumerty, Mrs. A. G. Frances, Mrs. A. J. Herbert, Mrs. O. L. Hess, Mrs. John Hurst, Miss Ruth Jenka, Miss Laura Jean Jarrett, Miss Phelma Gress, Miss Pauline Miller, Miss Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Marsh, Mrs. McWilliams, Miss Edith Moore, Mrs. W. L. Owens, Miss Mabel Perry, Mrs. V. Perry, Mrs. Peterson, Miss Ora Pimlott, Mrs. Robert Richie, Mrs. Josiah Reynolds, Mrs. E. J. Redding, Mrs. J. Raybold, Miss Jessie Reed, Miss Mildred Reed, Mrs. M. W. CHAPTER VII. The Plunge.

STELLA went over that queer debate a good many times in the ten days that followed. It revealed Jack Fyfe to her in a new, inexplicable light, at odd variance with her former conception of the man. She could not have visualized him standing with one foot on the stove front speaking calmly of love and marriage if she had not seen him with her own eyes, heard him with somewhat incredulous ears. She had continued to endow him with the attributes of unrestrained passion, of headlong leaping to the goal of his desires, of brushing aside obstacles and opposition with sheer brute force, and he had shown unreckoned qualities of restraint, of understanding. She was not quite sure if there were guile or sensible consideration. He had put his case logically, persuasively even. She was very sure that if he had adopted emotional methods she would have been repelled. If he had laid siege to her hand and heart in the orthodox fashion she would have raised that siege in short order. As it stood, in spite of her words to him, there was in her own mind a lack of finality. As she went about her daily tasks that prospect of trying a fresh flog at the world as Jack Fyfe's wife tantalized her with certain desirable features.

Was it worth while to play the game as she must play it for some time to come, dredge away at mean, sordid work and amid the drariest sort of environment? At best she could only get away from Charlie's camp and begin along new lines that might perhaps be little better, that must inevitably lie among strangers in a strange land. To what end? What did she want of life, anyway? She had to admit that she could not say fully and explicitly what she wanted. When she left out her material wants there was nothing but a nebulous craving for—what? Love, she assumed. And she could not define love, except in some incomprehensible transport of emotion which irresistibly drew a man and a woman together, a divine fire kindled in two hearts. It was not a thing she could touch for by personal experience. It might never touch and warm her, that divine fire. Instinct did now and then warn her that some time it would wrap her like a flame. But in the meantime life had her in its stream of its remorseless, drab current, sweeping her along. A foothold offered. Half a loaf, a single slice of bread even, is better than none.

Jack Fyfe did not happen in again for nearly two weeks and then only to pay a brief call, but he stole an opportunity, when Katy John was not looking, to whisper in Stella's ear.

"Have you been thinking about that hangover of ours?"

She shook her head, and he went out quietly without another word. He neither pleaded nor urged, and perhaps that was wisest, for in spite of herself Stella thought of him continually. He loomed always before her, a persistent, compelling factor.

She knew at last, beyond any gain-saying, that the venture tempted, largely perhaps because it contained so great an element of the unknown. To get away from this soul-drowning round meant much. She felt herself reasoning desperately that the flying man could not be worse than the fire and held at least the merit of greater dignity and freedom from the twin evils of poverty and thankless domestic slavery.

While she considered this, pro and con, shrinking from such a step one hour, considering it soberly the next, the days dragged past in wearisome sequence. The great depth of snow endured, was added to by spasmodic furies. The frosts held. The empty seed-bed with the restlessness of the man. In default of the daily work that consumed their superfluous energy the oggers argued and fought, drank and gambled, made "rough house" in their sleeping quarters till sometimes Stella's cheeks blanched and she expected murder to be done. Twice the Chikama came back from Roaring Springs with whisky aboard, and a grotesque debate ensued. Once a drunken logger shouldered his way into the kitchen to leer unpleasantly at Stella and, himself in

H. M. Riddle Tells How Nerv-Worth Banished His Various Sufferings.

Mr. Riddle is a well known resident of Washington, Pa. Note how he expressed his appreciation recently to his Washington druggist.

"Nerv-Worth has been a blessing to me. For 25 years I was troubled with a nervous condition following a stroke of paralysis. I lost weight and strength. My stomach was bad and I would fill up with gas after eating. I tried various remedies and doctors but some relief but it was not satisfactory. Nerv-Worth was recommended to me by another of its users and I thought I would give it a trial. It helped me wonderfully! The nervousness is about all gone, have no trouble with my stomach and gas, am gaining in weight and strength right along. I can recommend Nerv-Worth to anyone in the same condition I was in and feel that it will help them."

man you could care for."

"No," she smiled. "There isn't any older man, but there might be. Think how terrible it would be if it happened afterward."

Fyfe shrugged his shoulders.

"Sufficient unto the day," he said. "There is no string on either of us just now. We start even. That's good enough. Will you?"

"You have me at a disadvantage," she whispered. "You offer me a lot that I want, everything but a feeling I've somehow always believed ought to exist, ought to be mutual. Part of me wants to shut my eyes and jump. Part of me wants to hang back. I can't stand this thing I've got into and see no way of getting out of it. Yet I dread starting a new, train of wretchedness. I'm afraid—whichever way I turn."

Fyfe considered this a moment.

"Well," he said finally, "that's a rather unfortunate attitude. But I'm going into it with my eyes open. I know what I want. You'll be making a sort of experiment. Still, I advise you to make it. I think you'll be the better for making it. Come on. Say yes."

Stella looked up at him, then out over the banked snow, and all the dreary discomforts, the mean drudgery, the sor did shifts she had been put to for months rose up in disheartening phalanx. For that moment Jack Fyfe loomed like a tower of refuge. She trusted him now. She had a feeling that even if she grew to dislike him she would still trust him. He would play fair. If he said he would do this or that she could lean on it absolutely.

"She turned and looked at him searchingly a long half minute, wondering what really lay behind the blue eyes that met her own so steadfastly. He stood waiting patiently, outwardly impassive. But she could feel through the thin stuff of her dress a quiver in the fingers that rested on her shoulder and that registered signs of the man's pent-up feeling gave her an odd thrill, moved her strangely, swung the pendulum of her impulse.

"Yes," she said.

Fyfe bent a little lower.

"No, I suppose not," she agreed.

"I'll send the Panther down to the Springs for Lefty Howe's wife," he outlined his plans unhesitatingly. "She will get up here this evening. Tomorrow we will go down and take the train to Vancouver and be married. You have plenty of good clothes, good enough for Vancouver. I know—with a whirlwind outfit—because you had when you came last summer, and you've had no chance to wear them out. Then we'll go somewhere—California, Florida, and come back to Roaring Lake in the spring. You'll have all the best taste of this out of your mouth by that time."

Stella nodded acquiescence. Better to make the plunge boldly, since she had elected to make it.

All right. I'm going to tell Benton," Fyfe said. "Goodbye till tomorrow."

She stood up. He looked at her a long time earnestly, searchingly, one of her hands impressed tight between his two big palms. Then, before she was quite aware of his intention, he kissed her gently on the mouth and was gone.

If he said he would do this or that she could lean on it absolutely.

"She turned and looked at him searchingly a long half minute, wondering what really lay behind the blue eyes that met her own so steadfastly. He stood waiting patiently, outwardly impassive. But she could feel through the thin stuff of her dress a quiver in the fingers that rested on her shoulder and that registered signs of the man's pent-up feeling gave her an odd thrill, moved her strangely, swung the pendulum of her impulse.

"Yes," she said.

Fyfe bent a little lower.

"No, I suppose not," she agreed.

NEWSY NOTES TELL WHAT'S HAPPENING IN MT. PLEASANT

October 7 to be "Homer Day" at the United Brethren Sunday School.

CHILD BITTEN BY A SPIDER

Little Aletha True, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank True, Rogers Much From Infection Following Sting of Spider; Clyde Abrahams a Mayor.

Special to The Courier
MOUNT PLEASANT, Sept. 21.—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sullenberger was buried in the local cemetery yesterday following funeral services at the family home on South Diamond street.

Plan "Homer Day."
Sunday, October 7, is to be rally day at the United Brethren Sunday school here. It will be called "Homer Day." There will be erected on the platform Sunday, September 30th, a pigeon loft eight feet high containing 500 pigeon holes. Every scholar, church member and friend attending on that day will be presented with a cardboard homer pigeon. Every pigeon will be numbered and it will require 500 homers to fill the loft. It is expected this will exceed any rally ever conducted in the church.

Spider Bites Child.
Little Aletha True, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank True, of Center avenue, has an infected hand, a spider having bit her. It is swollen to almost twice its natural size and the child is unable to attend school.

Attending Conference.
The Rev. T. C. Harper, with his delegate, P. S. Wolfenberger, are attending conference at Johnstown this week.

Recovering After Operation.
Friends of Mrs. Robert Sullivan will be pleased to learn that she is recovering from an operation recently performed at the Memorial hospital here.

Now a Major.
Friends of Clyde Abrahams will be pleased to learn that he has been made a major in the infantry, having been called home from Honolulu, where he has served for several years, to Houston, Texas, to take his place as major. Clyde Abrahams is a West Point man and with his mother, claims Uniontown as his home, but was raised in Mt. Pleasant. Harold Abrahams, his brother, has also enlisted and is with the supply department at Columbus, Ohio.

Death of Child.
Frank, the 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Balant, is dead at his home here. Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at the Slavish church and interment will be made in the Slavish cemetery.

Notes.
Mrs. John D. Hitchman and son Billy left yesterday for Atlantic City where they will spend a week or 10 days.
Miss Cora Gilbert of Uniontown is the guest of friends here.

RECEPTION GIVEN FOR MEMBER OF NEW ARMY AT SMITHFIELD

Friends Honor George Moody on Eve of Departure for Training Camp.

Special to The Courier
SMITHFIELD, Sept. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. George Moody gave a reception Tuesday evening at their home on Church street in honor of James Moody, their nephew of Bellevue, on the eve of his departure for training camp. The affair was well arranged by the friends and relatives of the draftee, entirely unknown to him and notwithstanding a note of sadness among the relatives that must necessarily accompany these occasions, it was an enjoyable affair, the honor guest entering into the festivities with as much good cheer as any that came to do him honor. He would have entered the service long since as a volunteer only for his mother, since deceased, who pleaded with him not to go.

Rev. Ralph Bell presided and following the reading of a passage of scripture, made a timely address. A. J. Smith, a Civil War veteran, also spoke. After these exercises the company was invited outside where a la-out fit for a king was served from tables arranged on the lawn in front of the house, the lawn being tastefully decorated with flags and bunting.

The Smithfield Cornet band discoursed sweet music. The following participated:
Rev. Ralph Bell, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Snyder of Wilkes Barre; A. J. Smith, Mrs. Hannah Abraham, H. O'Neil and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Moody, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jennings, Mrs. Emma Rohm, Miss Hattie Shaffer, John Shaffer, George Burcher, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sullenberger, Francis Sullenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. John Core, Mrs. Earl Fike, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody, Mr. and Mrs. George Moody, Raymond Moody, Mrs. Paul Simon, William O'Connell, Ray Rankin, F. E. Rankin, Miss Loretta Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Moody, James Woody, Henry Moody, C. C. Moody, Mr. and Mrs. George Moody, Jr., S. H. Miller, I. D. Miller, Hobart M. Her, Joseph Hoon, Harry Hoon, Charles Forfinger, Burchinal.

Life No Longer a Burden to Erie Man—Tanlac Brings Joy.

"I was pale as a ghost, weak and terribly nervous before I took Tanlac," said H. W. Baldwin, the well-known furniture repairman, of 513 East Tenth street, Erie Pa. "I had been in that condition for almost a year, following an attack of grippe, which laid me low for a time and then left me in such a frightful condition, practically helpless, and with life a burden. "I had been to some of the best physicians in Erie and had taken every remedy I could afford to buy, but still I got no relief. I suffered continually from pains in my back, clogged kidneys and bowels and gas on my stomach. "Finally, a friend recommended Tanlac, and I had hardly taken half a bottle when my stomach began to clear up, my bowels began to get regular and my kidneys to act right. My nervousness disappeared after the second bottle, and when I completed the third I was enjoying and am still enjoying the most perfect health."

Tanlac is being sold by the Connelville Drug Co.

Tanlac can also be secured in Dunbar at D. C. Eason's Drug Store.—Adv.
